Russians Oppose Waterways Plan

By EDWARD V. ROBERTS

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(RUP)—Strong Russian opposition to the proposed internationalization of Europe's inland waterways deadlocked the foreign ministers' conference today. American observers feared the new hitch might hamper the flow of relief supplies to central Europe this winter.

Survey Shows

City Butchers Are Operating Shops as Usual

Though members of the Edmonton Meat Retailers' Association had threatened to close their shops on Monday morning unless the government's meat rationing policy was modified very considerably, a survey of city butcher shops showed that very few of them have taken strike action.

One shop that had closed was found, but a check of other Edmonton butchers showed that most were open. Butchers in central and in some cases surprise was expressed that there had been no question of closing shops.

Reports received Monday morning revealed that meat shops in country districts are carrying on their threatened strike action, according to A. F. Dreger, northern Alberta representative of the Retail Butchers' Association.

Lethbridge Meat Dealers Close Up

LETHBRIDGE, Sept. 24.—(CP)—Independent meat dealers of Lethbridge planned to close their shops Monday morning in protest against the federal government's meat rationing orders. This was decided following a meeting Sunday of the dealers.

The following resolution was passed: "As a protest against the government's meat rationing orders which are not workable in spite of the proposed changes, the independent butchers of Lethbridge have decided to close their stores beginning Monday, Sept. 24."

Say Men 'Gypped'

Construction of Veterans' Houses Declared Inferior

By P. W. DEMPSON

EDMONTON BUILDERS' ASSOCIATION

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 24.—Construction of houses under the Veterans' Land Act is inferior, and returned men purchasing these dwellings are being "gypped," the members of the Builders' Association in Ottawa Monday by J. O. Proke, CCF member for Regina city, and Eric B. McKay, CCF for New Brunswick.

The two members claimed they had inspected a number of houses over the week-end being built on Carling avenue, and found the basement of one caved in, the hole large enough "to get a motor car in." The structure of another, they said, was being supported by an unapproved jack.

The members plan to bring this matter to the attention of the House of Commons, for it is possible "this condition is being duplicated elsewhere in the country. The dwelling are costing $6,000 each, and the plan of the Veterans' Land Act contractors building them is to have them completed by Christmas.

The members charged that guards had been posted around the houses to prohibit visitors from viewing them. Only by showing that they were members of the association were they able to examine the houses.

Mr. Proke said this is "a shame considering that veterans are war-

In Near Future

The three-plate system will go into effect in Regina at the beginning of the year, and it is reported that the eight-hour day principle will be adopted in the Lethbridge and Medicine Hat brigades at about the same time.

To Probe Plan

Fire-Fighters' Eight-Hour Day

Negotiations will be opened in the near future between executive officers of the Firemen's Union and the city commissioners in respect to the institution of the three-plate system for the Edmonton fire brigade.

The three-plate system will go into effect in Regina at the beginning of the year, and it is reported that the eight-hour day principle will be adopted in the Lethbridge and Medicine Hat brigades at about the same time.

In the November, 1942, civic election, a plebiscite was submitted to the electors on the question of the adoption of the eight-hour day standard for the Edmonton brigade. The vote on that occasion was 5,813 for adoption and 2,282 against, leaving a majority for adoption of 3,536.

COUNCIL AGREES

City council at a meeting following the vote agreed, in principle, to the adoption of the three-plate system, and it was agreed that the eight-hour day for the Edmonton brigade would be instituted within a year of the cessation of hostilities.

The executive of the union also agreed to the eight-hour day in the department starting Jan. 1 next.

If the eight-hour day is put into effect, it will mean the employment of approximately 45 additional firemen at an approximate cost of $100,000.

Senators Protest

Athletic Victory

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Owner Clark Griffith of Washington Senators today protested Philadelphia's 12-0 victory over the Senators yesterday in the first game of a doubleheader.

"They've taken the pennant away from us on a technicality, and I'm protesting to Will Harrigan, league president," Griffith told a reporter.

He referred to an umpire's decision that Buddy Lewis, Washington left fielder, dropped a fly ball in the eighth inning when Philadelphia made three runs and tied the game.

On that play, Mayo Smith, of the Athletics sent a fly to right which Lewis apparently caught for the first out. But Lewis dropped it as he built as he started to return it to the infield.

Umpire Eddie Russell ruled Smith safe. Manager Ode Blume objected so strenuously that Blume was hauled from the game. The Athletics took advantage of that break to score three unearned runs and sent the Phillies extra innings for their 12-0 victory.

Merchants Forced To Shut Up Stores

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.—(CP)—Gangs of men—estimated at from 100 to 200 strong—today forced the city of Montreal, entered butcher shops and forced meat merchants to close up, or face the alternative of having their counters overturned and their stock ruined. Many independent butchers did not open today, in protest to the present meat rationing system, and many of those joined in the groups that called on the other stores.

The manager of a large chain store in the north-east end of the city said that a mob of about 100 men crowded into his store and threatened to damage his stock if the contents of State trucks had been pulled off. These could not be confirmed immediately.

All Jap Funds To Be Frozen By New Order

Were a beaten and subdued nation and must perform bow to the will of the conqueror.

While the new drastic orders were still being discussed, with informed Japanese circles said that Emperor Hirohito would pay a call on General MacArthur at the American Embassy building. No plan was announced for the visit.

The decision on a meeting place of conqueror and conquered was reached at a recent conference between Gen. MacArthur and Admiral Fujita, Grand Chamberlain, these sources said.

Official confirmation was lacking, although a meeting between Gen. MacArthur and Hirohito long has been expected. If the emperor goes to the embassy, it would be the first time in modern history that any Japanese emperor has gone to another ruler for an audience.

EFFECTUATES POLICY

The orders issued today put into effect some of the major policies outlined for Japan by President Truman in his directive to General MacArthur.

The General's sweeping financial order was seen as a step toward securing reparations from Japan toward the war, and to enable Japanese war profiteers to escape their wealth in an effort to escape war guilt trials.

President Truman directed that reparations would be paid in part through the transfer of Japanese property outside the home islands.

PROHIBITIONS IN ORDER

The financial order specifically directed the government to amend its laws to prohibit:

- 1.—Export to or import from Japan of gold, silver or platinum bullion, currency, securities, checks, bank drafts, bills of exchange, powers of attorney, proxies, or any other device of individuals or of property ownership.

- 2.—Transactions within Japan of gold or silver, or gold, silver or platinum bullion.

- 3.—Transfer of assets abroad owned or controlled by any person directly in whole or part by any person within Japan.

- 4.—Transfer of property which now or which has been since Dec. 7, 1941, owned or controlled by any person outside Japan.

- 5.—Transactions in foreign exchange.

AIDS INVESTIGATION

General MacArthur said the orders were aimed "At freezing trading in currencies and at liquidating assets within the country which will in turn facilitate the finger-pointing of the nations' assets here and abroad."

In his new press directive, MacArthur ordered the government forthwith to eliminate state-created barriers to dissemination of news and to "Remove itself from direct or indirect control of newspapers and news agencies."

The government was ordered to strip the heretofore official Domei News Agency of all special privileges and make it subject to competition from whatever news services choose to enter the field.

"No preferential treatment will be accorded any news service now existing or which may be created hereafter in Japan," the order said. Foreign news services will be permitted to enter the press of Japan to the extent that press desires.

NO NEWS MONOPOLY

"All communications facilities under government control shall be equally available to all national and international news agencies. Distribution of news within Japanese home islands will not be the special privilege of one controlled organization (Domei)."

General MacArthur ordered the government to rescind its prohibition on reception of foreign news by radio by any agency except the Ministry of Communications.

He said the present system of news distribution within the home islands would continue under strict censorship until "such time as private enterprise creates acceptable substitutes for the present monopoly."

In specifically banning research which might lead to Japanese production of an atomic bomb, the directive said no work would be permitted "which has as its object the effecting of mass separation of uranium 235 from uranium of other isotopes of unstable substance."

WORKED ON BOMB

Last July, Japanese newspapers had reported that Japanese scientists were working on an atom bomb and hinted that they shared some of Germany's war research in the field.

Japanese Finance Minister Juichi Tomihata called on General MacArthur for a half hour Sunday to explain Japan's financial problems. They are probably discussed General MacArthur's order of Saturday for a complete accounting of Japan's finances.

Busy Preparing Defence Von Ribbentrop Is Expected To Reveal Pro-Nazi Britons

By ROBERT MUSEL

Exclusive to the Edmonton Bulletin. NURENBERG, Sept. 24.—(UPI)—American officials believed today that Joachim Von Ribbentrop, his nervous fingers almost constantly busy with pad and pencil, might soon reveal the names of high-placed British officials who were allegedly sympathetic to the Nazi cause.

While serving as ambassador in London, Ribbentrop used to boast that he knew everyone in England who amounted to anything.

"He's like a cornered rat," he once said. "And like a rat, he'll try to bite as many people as he can before he is squashed to death."

LIST OF QUIRRLINGS

"Political Commentator Hansen Haefler reported in the London Daily Herald that American troops at the same time they discovered the Nazi list of Britons who were to be executed after Germany's invasion of Britain, has uncovered a list of potential British quirlings. Despite some demands from the Germans, its contents have never been disclosed."

Ribbentrop, his jokers say, has forgotten his earlier success in playing his cards. He was cheered when he learned that the Allied powers, possibly, will not try him for any actual atrocities but for the evidence he had given under the war guilt act alone.

After he was first arrested Ribbentrop reportedly had given up all hope of living. He refused to eat and he lost all interest in his personal appearance. One knows all over the world as a "dapper" diplomat, he left himself as unclean as he looked more rumpled and increased than the notorious master Hermann Goering.

INTEREST IN LIFE

Now Ribbentrop is beginning to take some interest in his looks again and sometimes appears almost in good spirits.

short term character. In general of this situation the government has decided to change the sale policy followed in earlier years in a way which will result in keeping down the interest charges on the public debt and still satisfy the investment needs of all investors.

The job is aimed at meeting Canada's borrowing requirements for the 12 months starting Nov. 1.

Mr. Hiley said "Victory bonds issued during the war were partly long term three per cent bonds and were left to mature at lower interest rates. The choice between buying long or short term bonds was left to the investor. In practice, individuals continued their purchases almost entirely in long term three per cent bonds, while non-individual investors divided their purchases roughly equally between short term bonds and two thirds for long term three per cent bonds."

Applications for the short term bonds will be accepted from every class of investor. Non-individual investors eligible to purchase more than $25,000 of long term bonds will include federal, provincial and municipal governments; life and other insurance companies; unions; pension and benevolent funds; and other savings bodies which invest the collective savings of individuals.

"I would point out that this policy applies only to the sale of new loan bonds by the government to investors at the time of public offering of the new loan," said Mr. Hiley. "Subsequently, any business firm which needs long term securities for its investment plans is free to buy ninth loan three per cent bonds or any other issue of government securities in the open market from other investors."

Big Five Meet Is Deadlocked On New Issue

The Russian "sphere of occupation" he made available to all Allied powers for relief work.

BRITISH SUPPORT

The situation was complicated further by the Soviet Union's unilateral pact with Hungary which, in effect, gave the Russians complete control of the Hungarian resources of the Danube.

British delegates to the conference were reported firmly supporting the United States' waterways project, which would internationalize the Danube, Rhine, Scheldt, Elbe and Oder rivers and the Kiel Canal.

American observers, while upset over the Russian stand, expressed confidence that the Big Five ministers could work out some compromise agreement on the major problems at issue and adjourn the council not later than Thursday.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT

They appeared hopeful that the two biggest stumbling blocks in addition to the waterways project—inter-allied differences over the Balkans and the Mediterranean—would be eliminated.

French Foreign Minister George Bidault emerged from the morning session of the council with a statement that it had been a "lively meeting."

Bidault expressed concern over proposals to strip Italy of all her colonies which, he said, would be "unwise" and "too harsh" treatment of a country which switched sides to take up arms against Germany.

He also disclosed that France has given Greece the demand for restoration of the Dodecanese Islands.

DONT WANT RHINE

At the same time, Bidault disclaimed any intention of demanding the German Rhineland for France. He said France wants only to be assured that the industries of the Ruhr and Rhineland will not be used again as an arsenal for German aggression.

The foreign ministers met at 11 a.m. amid indications that every effort was being made to iron out the troubles arising from differences between Russian and the western allies on the Balkan situation.

The British Press Association said responsible quarters showed "a tendency to minimize the seriousness of the position" and that the main object of today's meeting was to get the "wheels of the conference running again."

LIKELY FORMULAS

Those close to the conference believed the ministers finally would agree on formulas along these lines:

1. Russia will concede a measure of free opposition should be permitted against the communist government in Bulgaria and a somewhat smaller measure against those in Romania and Hungary.

2. The western allies will agree to "token" Russian representation in the administration of Italian colonies.

Such Soviet representation would be "token" in that it would not permit them to exercise any influence.

Girls who left housework for war jobs are demanding a new deal before going back to the old tasks. They want free evenings so they can adjust their own social life.

Some girls feel they should be paid overtime when they are asked to stay home in the evening and mind their employer's children. The day off is important, they claim.

Salaries approaching those in war jobs are asked by girls now at housework.

Dodged Draft: Man's Substitute Killed in Action

OTTAWA, Sept. 24.—(CPI)—Army officials said here yesterday they notified police to pick up Anthony T. Pollock of Toronto and Lockport, Man., when they found that the man who had served in the army in his stead had been killed in Italy.

Pollock appeared in a Winnipeg police court Friday charged with not possessing a national registration card. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to five weeks in jail.

An army spokesman here said the impersonation was discovered when a soldier holding the name Anthony T. Pollock was killed in Italy last May.

Pollock's mother, Mrs. Katherine Pollock of rural route No. 1, East Lockport, Man., was notified. Later however, Pollock was reported to have been seen in Winnipeg.

A check of the dead soldier's effects was made and the soldier identifying himself as Patrick Moran was found. The letter disclosed that Moran was born in Philadelphia in 1906 and he gave his next of kin as his sister, Rose Mary Moran, and said the record with her aunt, Mrs. R. Wright, 60 Sherbourne street, Toronto. His sister was then notified of the result because his parents were dead.

A Winnipeg dispatch last night said that in April, 1942, when Pollock and Moran were rooming together in Toronto, the former received his notice to report for army service.

Police said Pollock gave his identification card to young Moran who answered the call and was accepted for service. He went overseas and was killed May 5, 1943, Canada would reap dividends in good will and in trade for generations to come.

Mr. Coleman's appointments during the month and half were a tribute to the widespread nature of the activities of the world's greatest transportation system. He conferred with the Hon. A. Barnes, newly appointed minister of war transport, who, based on the records before him, paid a glowing tribute to the assistance received from the Canadian Pacific during the war, and with Lord Addison, minister of state for the Dominions, who spoke enthusiastically of Canada's war effort.

In North Ireland On his arrival at Belfast Mr. Coleman became the guest of the prime minister of Northern Ireland, Sir Basil Brooke. He had the opportunity there of inspecting the great shipyards of Harland and Wolff.

In Scotland he inspected the Fairfields and the John Brown shipyards, whose workmanship on the earlier Canadian Pacific ships had been a mark of admiration for "our service to the Empire during the war."

His literary was an extensive one bringing him a full-sized picture of England, Scotland and Ireland for Ireland for presentation to his board. From his arrival in Liverpool on the Stratheden on August 10 to his departure from Southampton on the Queen Elizabeth on Sept. 14, he was filled with respect for the spirit of the British people—patient, tolerant and resolute alike in danger, in deathly struggle and in victory.

Everywhere there was a quiet determination to repair the ravages of war by the efforts of their own people, and to recover their place in world trade by their own exertions.

In every quarter there was expressed admiration for the work Canada has done in the war. "It was felt that we had handled our wartime financial, price and labor controls with good judgment and great efficiency," Mr. Coleman said. "It was the opinion everywhere in Britain that the performance of Canadian industry, under the direction of the department of munitions and supply, had been exceptionally good and that our financial and diplomatic relations with the United Kingdom, the other Dominions and with all the United Nations had been governed by a spirit of magnificent generosity from which Canada would reap dividends in good will and in trade for generations to come."

Mr. Coleman's appointments during the month and half were a tribute to the widespread nature of the activities of the world's greatest transportation system. He conferred with the Hon. A. Barnes, newly appointed minister of war transport, who, based on the records before him, paid a glowing tribute to the assistance received from the Canadian Pacific during the war, and with Lord Addison, minister of state for the Dominions, who spoke enthusiastically of Canada's war effort.

In North Ireland On his arrival at Belfast Mr. Coleman became the guest of the prime minister of Northern Ireland, Sir Basil Brooke. He had the opportunity there of inspecting the great shipyards of Harland and Wolff.

In Scotland he inspected the Fairfields and the John Brown shipyards, whose workmanship on the earlier Canadian Pacific ships had been a mark of admiration for "our service to the Empire during the war."

His literary was an extensive one bringing him a full-sized picture of England, Scotland and Ireland for Ireland for presentation to his board. From his arrival in Liverpool on the Stratheden on August 10 to his departure from Southampton on the Queen Elizabeth on Sept. 14, he was filled with respect for the spirit of the British people—patient, tolerant and resolute alike in danger, in deathly struggle and in victory.

Everywhere there was a quiet determination to repair the ravages of war by the efforts of their own people, and to recover their place in world trade by their own exertions.

In every quarter there was expressed admiration for the work Canada has done in the war. "It was felt that we had handled our wartime financial, price and labor controls with good judgment and great efficiency," Mr. Coleman said. "It was the opinion everywhere in Britain that the performance of Canadian industry, under the direction of the department of munitions and supply, had been exceptionally good and that our financial and diplomatic relations with the United Kingdom, the other Dominions and with all the United Nations had been governed by a spirit of magnificent generosity from which Canada would reap dividends in good will and in trade for generations to come."

CP Steamships To Re-Establish 2-Ocean Fleet

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.—(Canadian Pacific Steamship)—Two-ocean fleet, which suffered the greatest loss of any individual company in World War II, will be re-established when construction costs justify ordering new tonnage. D. C. Coleman, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, said today in an interview following his return from a month and a half in the Old Country.

The rebuilding program already has started, said Mr. Coleman, who was launched last month on the Clyde where three other Beaver boats are on the way to replace the important London-Canada service on the North Atlantic.

Mr. Coleman did not specify the number of ships to be rebuilt, but was explicit that the Canadian Pacific would again operate on the Atlantic and the Pacific from which CPS vessels started in war service in 1918.

11 VESSELS SUNK Official Admiralty figures reveal that 11 Canadian Pacific ships of 193,000 tons were sunk by the enemy, ranging from the 42,000-ton Empress of Britain to the 5,875-ton Princess Marguerite of the Vancouver-Seattle-Victoria run.

Two others were lost while under construction through the hazards of war and two others were taken by the Admiralty for permanent conversion to naval service. In addition the Niagara in which the Canadian Pacific had a half interest was sunk due to striking an enemy mine.

Beaver boat replacements are already on the way and much improved editions of the fast freighters which operated out of Montreal and Saint John, N.B., but the exact nature of the new passenger boats he could not reveal at this time.

From British Yards New tonnage so far ordered was coming from British yards, Mr. Coleman explained, because it was in replacement of ships operated by the British registry. The United Kingdom government when it requisitioned all British registered shipping set up a fund supplementing recoverable insurance to assist ship owners in replacing lost tonnage. Payments out of this fund naturally will only be available for replacement ships built in British yards, aside from that, it is obvious that the company has a real interest in the early and complete economic recovery of her principal customer, Great Britain.

It was doubtful, he felt, if the Canadian Pacific would be disposed to build another Empress of Britain but throughout Britain she seemed to be lamented as though she had been a real person, and he had been told of movement on foot that country to construct such a ship and present her to the Canadian Pacific as a mark of admiration for "our service to the Empire during the war."

Branch of United Nations Society Is To Be Formed in This City

So that today's children of from one to six years of age could avoid the catastrophe of going to war "20 years from now," it was urged by Russell T. Kelley, Progressive-Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Hamilton-Wentworth, and head of the Kelley Advertising Agency, that service clubs and other interested groups in the Dominion take their place in development and education for the permanence of world peace.

Mr. Kelley is founder of the United Nations Society, and spoke to an audience which was called for the purpose of forming a branch of that organization, Saturday evening in the Public Library.

The preservation of peace among the nations of the world depended upon a keener interest in that objective by the common man, said Mr. Kelley, branches of the United Nations Society would aid materially in fostering that interest, said the speaker, who stated he would like to see the establishment and development of sub-branches in every town, hamlet and school.

The world had organized both financially and in terms of human beings for the effective prosecution of history's most gigantic, bloody and expensive war and it was through this organization that the United Nations were able to survive the threat of tyranny and to come out victorious in the end.

UP TO YOUTH
"The common man must become peace conscious and the only way to eventually realize this desired objective is to let the younger generation and to give them education necessary for the achievement of this end," Mr. Kelley continued. An organization such as the United Nations Society, if developed and extended throughout the Dominion, would be the nucleus of a better world and a world freed from the menace of recurrent threats of war.

The society had as its purpose the development of international understanding and tolerance in the individual and when sufficient individuals were indoctrinated in the desire to maintain peace they would constitute a psychological bloc which would outlaw war from the face of the earth.

In order to bring about a wide generalization of this world peace education, Kelley first required to better the spirit of understanding and cooperation in their own country, stated Mr. Kelley. Divisions of race, religion and area, such as existed at the present time, were not conducive to improvement in the spirit of mankind's brotherhood. Tolerance for race and religion was an imperative need if the objectives of the Four Freedoms were to come to fruition.

There was no better way for people to develop a tolerance for one another than to visit and mix with people in east, west and central Canada would be able to do this if there was a permanent transcontinental highway, stated Mr. Kelley.

EXEMPLARY UNITY
A greater spirit of neighborliness and a realization of the factors which had in the past caused differences between French and English speaking Canada would give a way toward making Canada a country of exemplary unity. Education of the younger generation in such principles would give impetus to realizing this goal, and the speaker stated that the United Nations Society had been formed in the Dominion.

People today recalled the League of Nations only in terms of failure, but the league never really had the backing of conviction by the men and women of Canada. The objectives of the league were sincere and good, he continued, but with populations unprepared for peace through lack of a comprehensive education, the league would have been doomed almost before it commenced operation.

Mr. Kelley was high in his praise of the works accomplished by service clubs and in particular of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The objectives of service clubs were devoted to the encouragement and perpetuation of anything that would help the cause of understanding, peace and brotherhood, declared Mr. Kelley, saying he looked with confidence to service clubs and other Bubble, bubble, Big Five talks and still trouble brews for negotiators of the final peace in the stormy Balkan and Mediterranean areas, birthplace of some of the world's bloodiest wars. Above map shows number of "touch-and-go" questions perplexing the Council of Foreign Ministers in London.

Rezoning Scheme Is Before Council

Edmonton's town planning commission has recommended to city council that White Avenue from 99 street to 102 street and from 102 street to 108 street be rezoned from a "G" three-story business section.

The recommendation will be discussed at Monday night's council meeting. Request for the rezoning was made by the South Edmonton Business Men's Association to the Town Planning Commission. The association asked that the entire length of White Avenue from 99 street to 108 street be rezoned as a "G" three-story business section.

SOCIETY POLICY
Outlining the policies of the United Nations Society, the speaker said it was the intention to keep all public-spirited bodies informed on its activities through monthly bulletins and a regular supply of pamphlets, and that a travelling secretary would be appointed to keep a constant current of activity within each head branch across the Dominion.

Mr. Kelley advocated closer co-operation with the British Commonwealth of Nations and that it was to Canada's interest to remember her development and prosperity were largely dependent on the Empire link. Canada should analyze her import situation and take advantage of every opportunity to patronize Great Britain. This should be done especially in cases where we do not compete with goods manufactured in Canada, said the speaker.

As one example the speaker cited the moving picture industry and stated that only 26 per cent of films shown in Canada were made in Britain. He said he felt this was one outstanding instance in which Canada could benefit by greater patronage of Britain.

The speaker had awakened the people to the seriousness of war and of the urgency of seeking peace, stated the speaker, adding that he was confident there would be a rapid development and active future for the United Nations Society everywhere throughout the country.

Mr. Kelley will proceed to Calgary to hold an organization meeting there, and later will go to various points in British Columbia, including Vancouver and Victoria.

Tag Day Report Is Compiled Here

A total of $56,522.96 was collected from Edmontonians through 43 tag days held during the years 1941 to 1944, inclusive. It is disclosed in a report on tag days being submitted to the city council Monday night by the city commissioners.

The report was requested by aldermen at the last council meeting when the request from the Edmonton Civic Employees Community Chest for the abolition of tag days came up for discussion. In their request for the elimination of tag days the Civic Employees organization asked that "Poppy Day" be an exception.

According to the report there were 22 tag days held in 1941 with contributions totaling $22,545.79. In 1942 only nine tag days were authorized and the collections totaled $18,534.35. In 1943, 12 tag days were held and the total collected was $30,275.37, while in 1944 the same number of tag days were authorized and collections totaled $23,266.59. Twelve of the 14 tag days authorized for 1945 were later held, with the Kiwanis Apple Day and the Canadian Legion Poppy Day still to be held.

The report reviews a previous attempt to eliminate tag days. Request at that time was made by the Community Chest of Edmonton.

USELESS TO VALUABLE

The cotton seed, once deeded and thrown away, now is so valuable for its by-products of oil, meals and chemicals that there is serious talk of growing cotton profitably for its seed.

It is theoretically possible for a pigman breeder to start with a dozen pairs of sows and have 860,000 sows at the end of six months.

States Canada Cannot Allow Any Division

"Canada can't afford to be divided. By all working together we can make her a more important factor in world affairs than the now is," said Russell T. Kelley, M.L.A. for Hamilton-Wentworth, Ont., and head of the advertising agency which bears his name, when he spoke to a luncheon meeting of the Advertising and Sales Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce held in the Coronet hotel at noon Saturday.

Mr. Kelley stressed that this country is only on the threshold of new developments as he displayed placards bearing listings of starting new products soon to be available. Included in these newly developed items were such things as ashless tobacco and wood as hard and nearly as malleable as steel.

LOCAL PROBLEMS
Dealing with more local problems Mr. Kelley suggested that the Advertising and Sales Bureau should conduct an analysis of Edmonton's trading area, the limits of which are set by the circulation of local newspapers and by the radius of local radio stations.

He made many suggestions which would lead to the development of good relationships between the city business men and their most important customers, farmers of the district.

He also made a plea for local support for the United Nations Society in order that children of one to six years of age should not have to go through what their fathers did in this war. He has been an ardent supporter of this movement since its inception in Canada.

Walker Blake, chairman of the advertising and sales committee, took over the chair for the first time at this meeting, after it had been surrendered by H. Brock-Smith, who is retiring this year.

Final Plans for Troops' Welcome Await Arrival Date Announcements

Plans for the welcome home by civic and government authorities for Edmonton formations returning to this city shortly as units have been almost completed but still await more definite word as to date of arrival of these troops before definite action can be taken.

No announcement can yet be made as to date of arrival but it is expected that these units will arrive sometime early in October.

It is hoped that arrangements can be made to have all units arrive on the C.N. and it is expected that trains will be scheduled to pull into the station on 10th avenue here at about 2:30 p.m.

TO ISSUE TICKETS
Two types of tickets will be issued to relatives who wish to greet men coming in the train, one kind to immediate relatives and the other to more distant ones. The station platform is to be divided into sections giving letters of the alphabet and relatives will be asked to group themselves under the appropriate letters. This will facilitate meeting of the men, who will be given 20 minutes to halt an hour with their relatives.

School Children Give Fashion Show

Under the supervision of Miss B. Williams, an informal fashion show was held at the McKay avenue school on Sept. 21 with Grades 8 and 9 home economics classes of the city taking part.

Through the co-operation of The T. Eaton Company (Western) Limited, the Hudson's Bay Company and C. Woodward Ltd., stores the models were shown which could be made by the girls in the sewing classes during the year. Samples of the materials available at these stores were on display. The girls modelled shirt waist dresses in wool, jumpers, sportswear, suits, dresses in rayon and nightgowns. These sample outfits aroused interest among the girls who are just beginning their fall sewing now and made the show a worthwhile and inspirational project. The clothes modelled were made up by the stores and will be sent to the schools having home economics centres for further inspection.

FRIENDSHIP MEANS A HELPING HAND

"Behold . . . the harvest": said Calvert 300 years ago

The Future of the World Depends on Friendship

EARLY in the 17th century, Calvert, famous English statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, pioneered mutual understanding between England and America by establishing colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland.

It was truly written of this great pioneer: "On Anglo-American relations, Calvert was the best informed man in the Old World."

Calvert said to his colonists three centuries ago: "Behold . . . the harvest!" A greater harvest of his vision is today's close partnership between Britain and the United States.

It is our birthright as Canadians to foster the friendship between England and the United States for the benefit of world security.

Close neighbour of America, key member of the British Commonwealth, we are the friend of both, the link that joins them in common understanding. We of Canada have an important responsibility in the preservation of this great partnership.

Showers Spray Poison Gasses On Prisoners

By RONALD CLARK
Exclusive to the Edmonton Bulletin
LUNEBERG, Sept. 24.—(UPI)—
A Polish Jewess who survived Nazi gas chambers at the Oswiecim horror camp sobbingly pointed out today the man who sent her and thousands of others to be executed.

Zofia Litwinka, 39-year-old widow of a non-Jewish Polish officer who died in Oswiecim, told the British military tribunal heard of the case against 45 Germans that she and others were held in baths and driven naked beneath showers. These showers sprayed poison gases instead of water.
She told how 3,000 Jewesses were selected and how many were "selected" for death.

POINTS OUT NAZI
Asked who had conducted the murder, Mrs. Litwinka rose emotionally and pointed to Herr Hoessler, one of the defendants, and screamed, "there's the murderer who is responsible for killing and burning so many."

After this simple gasping accusation, she collapsed, but, aided by a trim British nurse, five minutes later she returned to continue her testimony.

She said shortly after reaching Oswiecim, she had gone to the hospital with a broken leg. While her leg was mending, German doctors entered the hospital and ordered everyone to leave their beds naked and walk past Hoessler and two doctors. Those who couldn't walk were condemned. Those who were too ugly, or too thin, were also marked to die. Mrs. Litwinka couldn't walk, so her number was taken.

ALL ARE FRANTIC

"I was led into a room like a shower bath where there were towers and even mirrors," she said.
"I was so terrified at what was happening that I had no idea how many people were there. There were cries and tears. People shouted at each other, hit each other. We were all frantic."

Asked if the doors were closed, she replied, "I cannot say, I never thought that I would be in court to speak about it."

Then continuing her story, she said, "I started coughing and tears streamed from my eyes and I had a choking sensation. I didn't see what was happening to the others.
Everyone concentrated on what was happening to himself. Next thing I remember I heard my name called."

STILL AFRAID

"I didn't have the strength to speak. I raised my arm then I felt someone take me from the chamber.
Hoessler put me on a motorcycle and put a blanket around me and took me to the hospital where I remained for six weeks."

"The effect of the gas was as bad that I still get frequent headaches and suffer from heart trouble.
Whenever I go into fresh air, my eyes fill with tears."

Mrs. Litwinka told the court she guessed that the other prisoners from the chamber because her husband was a Polish soldier, or perhaps because they thought she was still strong enough for useful work.

They put her in cleaning latrine with her hands. Sometimes the guards ignored her, but at other times they gave her a blow with a rubber truncheon as they passed.

NAMES GUILTY

Mrs. Litwinka said she was transferred from Oswiecim to Wendland in the autumn of 1944.
Besides Hoessler, she also picked out other camp commandants, including Kramer and defendant Peter Weingartner as Nazis that she knew to be responsible for atrocities.

Mrs. Litwinka said, "I was transferred to Lublin on September because I was a Jewess. I was not tried."

Her eyes found the eyes of the accused 45-19 of them are women and—they stared back in stony silence.

"My husband was not a Jew," she said. "He was a lieutenant in the Polish army and was arrested because he became an army leader."
He was sent to Oswiecim too."

HUSBAND DIES

Prosecutor T. M. Blackburn interrupted her to ask gently: "Did he die at Oswiecim?"

Mrs. Litwinka replied, "Yes. We all died at Oswiecim."

As she talked, she obviously struggled against the memory of Oswiecim's horrors. "Numbers were tattooed on our arms," she said. "We slept seven or eight in a three-tiered bunk. Our skirts were short and filled with lice."
Our blouses had no sleeves to protect us from the cold.

Referring to the woman found woman, a half-naked slipped through the lips of one of the woman defendants. The others fixed her with a cold stare, and her sobbing ceased.

Her comrades appeared almost surprised to know that she could speak.

Protest Against Control by French

SAMON, Indo-China, Sept. 16.— (UPI)—(AP)—The Association of Southern Indo-China called a general strike today and proclaimed all a boycott against all French interests in the area. In another move protesting French rule, French officials said they thought the crisis would pass off within the next five days but French civilians took a different view and the atmosphere grows more tense daily.

East Girls Going To Join Husbands

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—(CP)—Ten Toronto girls are packing their trunks for a trip to Australia where they will join their Royal Australian Air Force husbands. They all met their husbands when the latter came to Canada under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.
They will leave Toronto Thursday and travel by way of Vancouver to San Francisco, where they will be part of a group of 12 Canadian brides and 25 babies sailing on the SS Matamoros to Australia next month.

S.A. Will Take
Canada Autos

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa,
Sept. 24.—(CP)—Eric Blackwell, head of the society of automobile manufacturers and importers of South Africa, said in an interview here: "We can take all the cars Canada can send."

He said South Africa normally imports 20,000 motor vehicles a year, but with the shortage caused by the war she could probably use 75,000 by the end of 1946.

Importers are not expecting vehicles from Canada or the United States before the end of this year. Mr. Blackwell added,
"But there was a big potential market in South Africa when Canada and the United States could make deliveries."

A. J. Simpson, South African motor vehicle controller, said South Africa has no restrictions on imports of motor cars from Britain, Canada or the United States and will take all she can get.
Mr. Simpson has just returned from Britain where he obtained the release of $25,000 worth of motor vehicles urgently needed by the South African transport and heavy hauling systems, both public and private.

Set New Record
West-East Flight

OTTAWA, Sept. 24.—(CP)—A new record for the flight between Vancouver to Ottawa was set Saturday when an RAF Mosquito plane landed at Rockville airport here after six hours and 53 minutes out of Vancouver's Sea Island airport, a time which shaved three hours and seven minutes off the previous record.

Piloting the Mosquito was Wing Commander W. H. H. H. H. H. H. H.
Spicer, a navigator, the same pilot who recently set the 24-hour crossing record in the same ship.

Atomic Bomb Now In Truman's Hands

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(AP)— President Truman last night took full personal responsibility for policy concerning the future development and use of the atomic bomb.

The President denied published reports that Commerce Secretary Wallace created an argument in the cabinet Friday by insisting upon the release of the atomic bomb secret to Soviet Russia and others.
The President told reporters Mr.
Wallace did not take any more active part in the discussion than any one else.

He said, and emphasized the statement, that he will make the decision as to the administration's policy with reference to the bomb and atomic energy when the time comes, that he would have to make it.

He said he would make it in the interest of the future of the country and in the interest of its foreign and domestic policy.

(At Chicago, Mr. Wallace told reporters Sunday that any comment must come from Mr. Truman when he was asked to register whether the secrets of the atom bomb should be shared with Russia.)

Meat Rationing May Be Cause Of Mine Strike

BLAIRMORE, Sept. 24.—(CP)— Unless meat rationing is "abolished or drastically revised" there will be two sections of the community on strike in the coming week in the Crown's Nest Pass.
They are the retail meat dealers and some 2,000 miners.

About 18 meat dealers from Bellevue, Hillcrest, Blairmore and Coleman who met at Blairmore
Sunday decided to delay strike action until Tuesday at least, to see what action other Alberta dealers take. They had planned to strike Monday failing a more satisfactory ration setup.

About 2,000 miners from the pass,
who also met at Blairmore, wrote Warfare Prices and Trade Board officials their intention to strike Thursday, Sept. 27 unless the ration for mine workers is increased.

WANT DOUBLE RATION

They demand a double ration of fresh meat and the lifting of ration restrictions on such sandwich meats as bologna and ham. The letter later was endorsed by Bellevue and Coleman unions.

They called the government's action in forcing such hard laborers as miners, smelter workers, etc. to get along on the same ration of meat as provided ordinary workers "unrealistic and stupid."

About 2,000 Drumheller Valley miners took similar action last week. Their deadline also is Thursday.

B.C. Plans Keep Liquor Rationing

VICTORIA, Sept. 24.—(CP)—
Liquor rationing in British Columbia is likely to continue well into next year on the basis of present supply and demand. Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy said Saturday. Unless there should be a substantial change in one or both of these factors, no more can be available monthly to permit liquors to be in a very great deal from month to month.

HONOR VC WINNERS

NORWICH, Eng., Sept. 24.—Five new roads here are named after men of the Royal Norfolk Regiment who won the Victoria Cross in the last six years—Grierson, Hales, Jamison, Handle and Knowland.

He has made no concrete proposals nor have the American negotiators, but the latter have made known the British representative that economic assistance might be conditioned on two specific considerations.

1. A scaling down of the indebtedness of the United Kingdom to the Commonwealth countries in the sterling area amounting to $14,000,000,000.

2. Reduction of British Empire preferential tariffs.

The first of these conditions puts it up to the British government to repudiate in part its indebtedness to the Commonwealth countries, or to the countries themselves to forgo a large share of this debt.

SECOND PLAN

The second condition would involve the United Kingdom either arbitrarily breaking her agreement with the Commonwealth countries to negotiate a new agreement for exchange or arranging by negotiation at a separate conference the scaling down of the Empire preference.

What can you Spare that they can Wear?

NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION

For needy and destitute in war-torn lands...

In war-torn countries throughout the world,
countless thousands of dazed and destitute people are today without adequate clothing, blankets or footwear. During six horror-filled years of war, the clothes on their backs have been worn to pitiful shreds.

The need is urgent—bitter winter weather is at hand. And the answer to the need lies largely in the clothes closets and attics of Canada, among the serviceable discarded wearing apparel that hangs there, idle and unused.

Look over your family's wardrobe—now! Pick out every garment you can possibly spare—overcoats, suits and dresses, underwear, sweaters and work clothes... anything in usable condition... anything out of date, out of fashion.
There are 125,000,000 men, women and little children in Europe alone who need your help—now! Will you do your share?

POSSIBILITY that Edmonton will have a strong contender in the field for the Canadian women's basketball title this coming season is seen in the fact that Army and Navy Pats are holding their re-organization meeting on Tuesday night.

Pats won the city, Alberta and Prairie championships last year, but lost out to Vancouver in the Canadian final in a series which went the full five games, although holding a 191 to 186 edge in total points. During the year they played 21 games, winning 17 of them and putting up a score of 1,000 points for as compared with 626 points.

Of the team which reached the final last spring, Coach Cliff Hinesworth will have all but one—Noel Robertson—available for the coming campaign. Peggy Colville, Pitta Dunn, Laura Scott, Connie Macintosh, Margaret Hamilton, Judith Smith, Gladys Lumming, Denise Callaway, Marie Schwartz and Max Senter all expect to turn out again. Bob Wimpsey and Vancouver teams already have started training.

GIRLS—"I met him last night and we became engaged today. He's taking one of those government speed-up courses!"

By Jack Cuddy

Today's Sport Parade

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(BUP)—A whirl on the sports-ground:

According to Ford Frick, president of the National League, a new attendance record may be established this season for the senior-circuit clubs, which already have drawn more than 5,000,000 fans.

Combines Capture Junior Honors

Played in weather that was more suitable for football, the Combines won the City Junior Baseball League championship by defeating the side Athletics 12-5 in the final game yesterday afternoon at Kingsway Park. The teams previously had won a game each in the best of three series.

Deadlocked at 3-3 at the end of the sixth frame, the Combines won in the lucky old seventh for a big six run rally, and needed another three in the eighth to win going away.

Due to the wintry weather conditions players on both clubs found it a little difficult to handle the ball, and play wasn't up to standard.

Bob English went the full route on the mound for the winners, while Herbie Mages and Ross Shafit divided the hurling duties for the losers.

World Record

PARIS, Sept. 24.—(Reuters)—Clive Braine broke the women's world record for the 400 metre-run Sunday, covering the distance at Caen in 1.13.2 seconds.

She clipped one second off the previous record, held by the Swedish runner, Anna Larsson.

Worker Guilds Are Advocated By Villeneuve

By GEORGE BURMAN

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.—(CP)—The institution of a system of professional guilds for the restoration of a social order of justice and charity was proposed Saturday night by Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, at a dinner marking the 25th anniversary of the founding of Canada's Semaines Sociales (social study weeks).

A return to God was necessary, the cardinal told the 300 guests and a CBC network radio audience, and an overall view of economic life indicated the need for reform "built on a truly solid basis."

He said "the best minds viewed more and more favorably the establishment of the 'social doctrine' of the (Roman Catholic) church . . . if society does not want soon to become the prey of revolutionary errors, and added that one of the chapters of this doctrine was corporatism, or the system of professional guilds."

FALSE LABELS
The guild system had been labelled "fascism, totalitarianism and communist infiltration, even before it is understood or before an attempt is made to grasp its true content." In no way does it "kill social freedom, but on the contrary protects it."

The Guild system, which would group in an association all the members of a single profession, already existed in such bodies as the Bar Association, the College of Physicians and Surgeons and the College of Pharmacists.

Legally established associations, guilds would represent each section of society, and would be founded in them. "In principle, it is by private initiative, favored, supported and stimulated by the state that proceeds towards the guild, rather than by governmental edicts, which are easily dictating and which lack the flexibility expedient to social freedom."

PROVIDE BASIS

He said the Christian Guild dated back to the middle ages when, to solve complicated social conditions, employers and workers of a trade joined together in guilds, and various guilds united "to redress social abuses and exercise the power of the people in the pursuit of the common good." Abuse grew, but the transition was made from slavery to the commune, or township, and thus the guilds provided the base of what still remains and which should be rebuilt into a true Christian democracy.

TCA Plans Route Across Pacific

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.—(CP)—

J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, in an address at the taking over of a new aircraft Saturday, said that TCA, in addition to flying the North Atlantic, also expected to fly the Pacific, first by Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand and then the north route to Russia and China. Schedules were also expected to be established to the West Indies and South America.

Mr. Symington spoke at a ceremony at nearby Cartierville where TCA took delivery of a DC-3, 21-passenger air liner from Canadian Limited, a crown corporation. "We want to provide facilities for people who want to fly," said Mr. Symington. "We want to do it with Canadian products."

"These seems," he added, "to be a general opinion that we buy our planes elsewhere than in Canada; that is not our policy."

Mr. Symington said that TCA had to have DC-4M 40-passenger air liners as soon as possible as development of the proposed routes depended upon the availability of planes.

Unity of B.C. Labor Ranks Is Proposed

VICTORIA, Sept. 24.—(CP)—

Unity of the labor vote was essential to defeat the "capitalist coalition parties in British Columbia," Sam Carr of Toronto, general organizer of the Labor-Progressive party told a meeting here Sunday night.

"The CCF say they can win alone and refuse to join with us," he said. "As the situation stands now, the CCF are selling our vote and we are splitting them. We need unity above all and beg for it."

Mr. Carr said the CCF government in Saskatchewan was being pressed by its former adherents to adopt anti-labor methods and cited the Leather Products Corporation of Regina, a government-owned shoe factory, as an example where difficulties were being put in the way of shop workers to organize, by the action of a M. Cantor, managing director, a government employee.

NANAIMO, B.C., Sept. 24.—

CP—Harold Winch, provincial CCF leader, opening a speech-making tour of this province in support of party candidates in the Oct. 25 provincial election, last night said that if elected, his government would have as a primary move an amendment to the Provincial Elections Act calling for sworn statements of the source of campaign funds and expenditures.

He charged the government with the greatest denial of democratic franchise, for its failure to disallow members of the armed forces not registered before Sept. 11 to vote Oct. 25, mentioning that the Seaforth Highlanders Battalion would be returning on election day "but without franchise rights."

Canada Troops Said Involved In Tavern Fracas

WATFORD, Hertfordshire, England, Sept. 24.—(CP)—

The British government has decided it was learned on the highest authority last night, to veto the whole issue of Palestine and of Jewish immigration to the Council of the United Nations with a statement that this responsibility would have as a primary move an amendment to the Provincial Elections Act calling for sworn statements of the source of campaign funds and expenditures.

The green association said the disturbance began outside a public house between French-speaking Canadian soldiers and an American Canadian military headquarters said it had no immediate report on the affair or the names of the men.

The first legal execution by electricity is said to have been that of William Kemmler at Sing Sing prison, Aug. 6, 1890.

Former Residents of Trochu Fought Germans as Partisans

By J. L. FINLAY

TROCHU—Capt. J. D. Mathieu, who recently returned from four years service overseas, Monday recalled a visit he enjoyed in Paris, France, with a former Trochu girl, Antoinette de Catalina, who had been touring the continent with a show troupe when war broke out.

Miss de Catalina was captured by the Germans when the Nazis went through France. She was released after two years in various prison camps, earned her living by modeling in Paris and was later married.

HUSBAND A PRISONER

When her child was only a few weeks old, her husband was taken prisoner and she has received no further word of him. Her mother is employed with the Civil Service in London.

Another former Trochu resident is now in Paris. He is Father Bason, pioneer of this district. His church in the French capital was partly destroyed by bombing.

Capt. George Eckenfelder, signal officer in the Seventh Brigade also returned to his home this week after four years overseas.

A graduate of the University of Alberta, he was employed with the Calgary Power Company prior to enlistment. He went overseas in July, 1941 and in the spring of 1942 was ordered to Tunisia where he was attached to the First British Army. He returned to England before D-Day and landed with the invading forces in Normandy.

On June 6, 1944, he spent 10 hours as a prisoner of the Germans, until he and a brother-officer, who was being captured induced the 10 Nazis to surrender.

Both officers were mentioned in dispatches.

THE PURPLE LANTERN

The ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

LAST week I received a copy of a letter being circulated by the secretary of the Japanese Revolutionary League of Vancouver which has as its object the Dominion-wide circulation of a petition asking the government of Canada to make certain that all persons of the Japanese race shall be repatriated to Japan. Let us hope that this petition will be head-winded by this version of the "master race" theory.

The letter reads in part: "We have an amorphous program under way. In addition to the petitions, we are publishing a paper, and are on the air. You will realize that this costs money, and the League is entirely dependent upon voluntary contributions in order to carry this campaign. If you in Alberta would like to get behind us with a donation, it would be much appreciated. The money for money is urgent. Personally I like to get behind the person who wrote that appeal with an army boot."

Let us use a little common sense and a little of the justice we prize ourselves on in Canada when we consider this question. At the present time the Dominion government plans to repatriate all those persons who want to be repatriated. That is fair enough and we should be interested in fair play, be content with that.

WENT OVERSEAS

I happen to know one Japanese who who did not volunteer to go to the war that a great many of this people who have been sitting at home stirring up the flames of race prejudice and discrimination. When the outbreak of war went overseas in the fall of 1940, and stayed away there until he was released on temporary leave for a few weeks. Now he is back home in the United Kingdom, and the King never had a more loyal or faithful subject. He has more right to call himself a Canadian than a lot of people in this country who do not do a single thing to warrant their right to do by law in the war effort. This country

Coldwell Says Meat Rationing Unsatisfactory

Stating that the Dominion Government has not taken parliament into its confidence in regard to meat rationing, and that the ministers were divided in their views on satisfactory explanations to parliament, M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF party, assures the Edmonton city council that he will give every consideration to his representations, and will continue to press the Dominion Government for facts and figures concerning meat rationing, in the hope that a satisfactory solution to the rationing problem can be found.

The CCF national leader was replying to a resolution unanimously passed by council seeking reconsideration by the Dominion Government of the meat rationing problem.

In his reply Mr. Coldwell said: "I would state that the government has not informed parliament fully as to the stock and meat situation in Canada yet. The situation has been dated prior to the institution of rationing, since the House was not in session."

HONORED—Mr. J. K. Breen, who won the civility award of Member of the British Legion, has been conferred in recognition of his services in the Canadian Forces during the war.

City Council Will Discuss Salary Scale

City council Monday night will continue consideration of a proposal to increase salaries of departmental superintendents and their assistants. This question has been the subject of discussion at two special meetings, and it is probable that a decision on the amount of the increases will be reached Monday night.

At the last meeting council members agreed on the principle of making any increase subject to an annual review, and a salary scale within six years, and that the increases were increased to a level of $10,000 per annum.

In their report to council the committee suggested that the salary scale be set at $10,000 per annum, and that the increases be made on a sliding scale, and that the salary scale be set at $10,000 per annum.
